SBA disaster loan office to open in Bay this week

By EDGAR PEREZ

The U.S. Small Business Administration will begin accepting applications for low-interest loans at 10 a.m. Tuesday from Hancock and Harrison county individuals and businesses which sustained losses in the Jan. 20 floods.

State Rep. J. P. Compretta said Friday the two counties have been declared disaster areas by the SBA through Gov. William Winter's office in Jackson.

In an announcement to U.S. Rep. Trent Lott's office in Washington Thursday, SBA Administrator James C. Sanders said the two counties are declared disaster areas as a result of high tides, rain, tidal action and flooding which occurred Jan. 19 and 20.

Assistance is available to both individuals and businesses for real estate and personal property losses caused by the flooding.

Loans are available to individuals up to $50,000 for repairs to primary residence and up to $10,000 for personal property losses, not to exceed a combined total of $65,000.

Businesses may borrow up to $500,000.

The officials said SBA will accept the loan applications from both Hancock and Harrison residents at temporary quarters in the Hancock Civil Defense Office, Valena C. Jones Complex, Old Spanish trail, Bay St. Louis.

The SBA office hours will be from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday. Hancock Civil Defense Director Bobby Boudin said the office will be closed Monday in observance of George Washington's Birthday.

Even though the application period will extend through April 18, Boudin urged area residents to apply early for assistance.

Sanders noted assistance for agricultural enterprises is the primary responsibility of the Farmers Home Administration.

Auxiliary police chief services set for Monday

A visitation will be held tonight at Edmond Fahey Funeral home in Bay St. Louis with funeral services scheduled Monday for Waveland Auxiliary Police Chief Clifford Paul Vogt, who died Friday in Gulfport.

A 10 a.m. Mass will be held Monday at St. Clare's Catholic Church with burial in the Waveland Cemetery.

Vogt, a charter member of the Waveland auxiliary police unit, has been chief for 10 years. He had also been active in the Waveland Volunteer Fire Department for some 10 years.

Waveland Chief of Police Donald Dorn said Saturday that Vogt drove the official lead police car last Tuesday in the Triton parade, as he did for the Nereids and St. Patrick's Day parades for many years.

He was the owner of the Gulf Coast Package Liquor Store of Waveland, and had been employed by the Brown's Velvet Ice Cream Company of New Orleans for 27 years.

CLIFFORD PAUL VOGT

Vogt was a past King of Nereids, served as an election commissioner for the city of Waveland and was a Korean War veteran.

School board to conduct employee 'dismissal hearing'

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The Hancock County School Board will conduct a Feb. 23 dismissal hearing for Harlin Hill, county school programs coordinator.

Based on a written recommendation by Joseph Gex, board attorney, the school officials at a Wednesday night special meeting set the hearing for 6:30 p.m.

The board acted on the matter after meeting in executive session for one hour to discuss personnel and conduct a student expulsion hearing.

Hill's employment status was apparently discussed in several closed meetings in recent weeks.

Closed discussions of personnel and students in which the public and press are barred are two types of executive sessions sanctioned by the Mississippi Open Meetings Law.

Hill has attended the recent meetings accompanied by Yvonne Sills, a Bay St. Louis attorney.

A controversy surrounding Hill's employment began several weeks ago when Terrell Randolph, superintendent of education, did not recommend the board rehire two district office employees for another year—Hill and Brenda Ladner, former district head bookkeeper.

Ladner was 'terminated' as an employee on Feb. 8 due to a lack of a recommendation to rehire her by the superintendent.

However, Hill apparently objected to Randolph's action and requested the hearing.

No district officials will reveal why the two were not recommended for re-employment.

The written recommendation by Gex

Astronaut urges blacks to 'desire' better jobs

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

An astronaut speaking during a National Space Technology Laboratories event Thursday told an audience that job opportunities are now available to blacks who 'desire' utilizing brains rather than brawn to earn a living in today's society.

Air Force Lt. Col. Frederick Gregory, a National Aeronautics and Space Administration Space Shuttle astronaut, Thursday morning spoke to a large audience at the NSTL Visitors Center auditorium.

He is one of several black Space Shuttle astronauts.

Gregory's speech was in conjunction with Black History Month activities, the fourth annual observance now underway at the Hancock County government research facility.

In a brief interview just after his speech, Gregory said the primary thrust of his talk was to urge young blacks to 'desire' achievement in today's society and develop a positive attitude toward that goal.

Gregory, a Washington, D.C. native, reported he has not personally encountered any racial discrimination in the astronaut corps.

He would not reveal what Space Shuttle mission he will participate in or what his responsibilities on board the craft will be.

Gregory said NASA will soon announce this information.

He also said he hoped to 'throw out a challenge' to young blacks to desire achievement in citing unheralded achievements of blacks who defended the United States in past wars.

In his speech, Gregory noted 906 black aviators flew hundreds of missions during World War II against Germany in North Africa, Syria and Europe.

He said the Germans feared the black aviator and dubbed them 'schwarz volgelmenschen' (black birdmen).

While American bomber crews revered the black fighter pilots because they provided excellent protection during bombing missions, Gregory noted.

He said the black pilots earned numerous medals for military

Echo preserved on microfilm

By BREARD SNELLINGS

The history of Hancock County, as seen through the pages of The Sea Coast Echo, is now available on microfilm at the Hancock County Public Library in Bay St. Louis.

Prima Wusnack, director of the county library system, recently had back issues of the newspaper photographed for the library by the Mississippi State Department of Archives.

The library has microfilmed issues of The Sea Coast Echo going back to 1898, and running through 1978.

There is no other microfilm record of the newspaper anywhere. The Sea Coast Echo has been published continuously in Bay St. Louis since January, 1892.

"Ball and Howell processed the film at $30 a roll," said Wusnack. "Lila Taylor of Bay St. Louis was hired to take the filmed pictures of each page of the Echo, going back to 1898, that we could take at the time."

Gaps of several years are missing, and Wusnack said she would like to see a complete file of the newspaper in the library. One roll holds about a year of issues of the newspaper.

Wusnack also said that anyone who wants to, can secure a photograph picture of any particular page of The Sea Coast Echo that is on microfilm.

The microfilmed issues include the following dates:

July 23, 1898 through July 21, 1900 and May 6, 1910 through May 27, 1911. Sept. 13, 1902 through March 11, 1905 and June 6, 1918 through Oct. 17, 1918.

Nov. 11, 1920 through June 9, 1921 and March 18, 1905 through April 30, 1910. Nov. 28, 1914 through Nov. 18, 1916; June 3, 1911 through Aug. 16, 1919.

Aug. 30, 1919 through May 25, 1928 and June 1, 1928 through Nov. 22, 1940.

Dec. 8, 1940 through Apr. 18, 1952 and June 30, 1955 through Jan. 17, 1957.

July 22, 1971 through August 15, 1974 and Sept. 12, 1974 through April 8, 1976. Aug. 12, 1976 through September 23, 1978.

Wusnack said recently one of the area high schools had students write essays on what happened in Hancock County on the date of their birth.

"Our microfilm file on The Sea Coast Echo was about all the students could use for their project," she said.

READING THE ECHO—Prima Wusnack, director of the county library system, reads a copy of The Sea Coast Echo from Sept. 3, 1898 on one of the microfilm reader-printers at the Hancock County Public Library in Bay St. Louis. The library has the newspaper preserved on microfilm from 1898 through 1978, and the film is available for use of schools and businesses interested in the paper's printed history of the county. (Staff photo by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

ANNUAL CONFERENCE

The Gulfport Stake of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) held its semi-annual stake conference in January.

Elder Charles Didier of the First Council of the Seventy, an administrative body of the Mormon Church, presided at the conference.

The conference was directed by John S. Scott of Gulfport, stake president, and his two counselors, Thomas Bosley of Bay St. Louis and Theodore Badger of Gulfport.

Members of the Waveland Ward of the Church were in attendance at several of the meetings held during this two-day event.

On Saturday Didier was featured speaker at meetings of all stake and ward priesthood leaders.

In the evening he met with all adult members of the stake.

On Sunday Didier addressed the youth and young adults in a special meeting. During this meeting a choir composed of young women from the Waveland Ward performed accompanied by local youth, Bridget Baum on her flute.

Didier also addressed the Sunday morning general session.

Theme of these continuing meetings was "Our Missionary Responsibility."

At each session of the conference, Didier, a convert himself, stressed his appreciation for the gospel and for the missionary efforts of the full-time missionaries and members alike.

He encouraged each member to "make your dream of sharing the gospel with those you love come true."

"How can you do this?" Didier asked. In answer, he said, "Through prayer, love, sharing and by setting a good example of the gospel of action."

Didier is originally from Belgium and now resides in the Salt Lake City area.

He is one of the first of several to be called as a general authority of the Church from a foreign country.

The First Council of the Seventy consists of seven, seventies who preside particularly over all of the seventies and who exercise certain administrative authority under the direction of the First Presidency and the Council of the Twelve.

The Gulfport Stake was formed Oct. 10, 1982, and now consists of six wards (or congregations) from the counties of Hancock, Harrison, and Pearl River.

St. Rose de Lima Catholic Church Parish News

By FR. B.C. KELLER

False gods always rush in to fill the vacuum in our lives. This time of Lent is the season to recognize these idols for what they are: poor substitutes for the God who is the Father of Jesus Christ. We must turn to him through fasting, prayer and sacrifice.

Mrs. Lela Curry thanks parishioners and friends for the many prayers offered for her recovery during her recent hospital stay.

The second collection today is for the Catholic Missions among Black and Native Americans. Should this collection increase nationally, St. Rose will benefit more from it.

Religious instructions will be given today at 10 a.m. for our children attending public school, kindergarten through 8th grade. Confirmation and pre-Confirmation classes will also meet at this time. The Confirmation class will also meet on Monday and Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. The 11th and 12th grades will meet on Monday at 5:30 p.m.

Emleigh Jacobs and Darious (Baba) McGown are candidates for bride and groom in Alcorn's "Tom Thumb Wedding" to be held on Sunday, Feb. 27, 3 p.m., in Gaston Point Community Center in Gulfport. Sponsor is Tina Williams. Your support for these two young parishioners is appreciated. Tickets for the wedding are $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. Some fund raising activities include:

- 1) $50 gasoline giveaway,
- 2) Cash bar and card games at home of Catherine Ishem today at 3 p.m., and
- 3) Cake sale next Sunday morning.

For more information call Ms. Tina Williams or Mrs. Marilyn Williams.

The Hancock County Branch NAACP will meet Monday at 7 p.m. in the Morning Star Baptist Church.

Parishioners are invited to attend the Black History Program to be held at the NASA Test Site Tuesday, beginning at 9 a.m.

St. Rose Catholic Youth Organization will meet on Tuesday at 7 p.m.

Our 19th Annual Semi-Pro Basketball Tournament will begin next weekend at the Seminary Gym. Games start on Friday at 7 p.m.; Saturday and Sunday at noon. Admission, adults $2, students $1. Conformer posters in church for donation list for each zone in parish. Your name is listed there.

Our parish council will hold an open meeting after this Wednesday evening Mass to discuss vital matters about our church and school. All interested parishioners are urged to attend.

Fishing season is not too far off, and not too many facilities are available due to the late January storm. A Carroll Avenue resident visited us the other day, and reported there were several boards missing on the Ulman Avenue pier.

The Ulman Avenue pier is about the only one along the beach with only minor damages.

It sure would be nice if this pier would be repaired, so fishermen would at least have some place to fish.

One of the big problems faced by officials on the fishing piers is the vandalism caused by some folks who always want to break something.

We know some of the railings on the Ulman Avenue pier were even down before the recent storm.

In all probability they were removed by persons who were on the pier and not even fishing.

All it would take is to have them nabbed in the act one time.

Some old fashioned propulsion was used on the Grand Marshal's vehicle in the West Hancock Volunteer Fire Department's Mardi Gras parade.

The convertible's engine died with some two miles left in the parade, and as all of you know, convertibles are not too plentiful nowadays.

So the group of Pearlington Cub Scouts marching in the parade proceeded to push the vehicle.

We have been told that Grand Marshal Ruble Griffin had a smooth quiet ride.

The sporting event in our community with the biggest growth has to be soccer.

Not too many years ago, soccer wasn't even played in Hancock County.

Just last week at the Bay Area Soccer Club's semi-annual meeting, 26 clubs were represented with a total of 390 players.

As you can see, there is a tremendous amount of emphasis on the sport of soccer in Hancock County.

The teams are from throughout the county and involves both boys and girls.

We hope many folks will attend some of the soccer games.

Small-business Angle

by Wilson S. Johnson

NO SPECIAL FAVORS

Those of us who represent small business in the legislatures of the 50 states and in Washington are often asked, "What special favors does small business want?" After all, most lobbying groups are now referred to as special-interest groups.

Small business wants no special favors from government. In fact, we think government has already become too involved in "helping" business. The goal of the small-business lobbyist is to guard against legislative inequities—that is, to prevent federal or state governments from enacting laws designed to correct some real or perceived problem but which would place a greater burden on the small-business owner.

For example, environmental protection laws of the '60s and '70s were enacted to prevent certain industries from damaging the atmosphere or water. A serious side effect has been enormous paperwork burdens on smaller businesses which do not have the legal staffs to deal with the complex laws. To rectify that problem, we supported so-called regulatory flexibility laws in many states and at the federal level. Those laws require governments to consider the compliance burden on small businesses when drafting regulations.

The pension laws enacted in the late '70s also had a negative effect on small business. After enactment of ERISA, the law that sought to protect employee pension benefits—tens of thousands of small firms cancelled their pension plans because they could not afford to pay the large sums of money needed to comply with the new law.

In addition, ERISA prohibits borrowing from company pension funds. Before that law was passed, small firms were encouraged to establish pension plans to provide the business a ready source of market-cost funds for expansion. The more fully funded the plan, the more money was available for expansion. The employee pension money was put to work for the direct benefit of employer and employee, rather than shipped off to a financial institution (probably not even in the same community) for unrelated use. However well-intentioned the authors of ERISA were, the effect has been to deny small business an important source of capital and, in many cases, to deny the employees of small firms any pension. The only winners were big banks and the large corporate clients to whom they lend money.

Government policy with regard to contracting for goods and services also discriminates against small firms. The prevailing wage "provisions" of the Davis-Bacon Act are another example. The list is endless. The goal of small-business groups in the legislative sessions in 1983 must be to convince lawmakers of the need to be more sensitive to the impact of the legislation they pass, because laws intend to "punish" or regulate large corporations, or to accomplish some desirable social objective, too often penalize small business.

(Wilson S. Johnson is president of the National Federation of Independent Business representing more than half a million small-business men and women.)

Senator Cochran reports

EDUCATION INITIATIVES

Improved educational opportunities for those seeking to advance their careers and economic objectives have always had a high priority with me.

I am currently involved in promoting two legislative initiatives that I think will help.

First, I am sponsoring a bill to allow parents and families to establish educational trust funds, with tax deductible contributions, for their children's college educations.

Secondly, I have introduced legislation to provide merit scholarships for college students preparing to be math and science teachers in our elementary and secondary schools.

These awards would also go to experienced teachers in these two fields to broaden their capabilities, and would be supplemented by block grants to states to develop improved programs in math and science.

The cost of going to college has doubled the past decade, and something needs to be done to encourage families to start saving earlier, to assure that children will receive sufficient education and training to obtain good jobs in our society's increasingly complex career market.

The bill provides tax incentives, similar to Individual Retirement Accounts, to encourage families and individuals to save for their children's higher education.

Tax deductible amounts of up to $750 per child annually, with a limit of $3,000 a year per family, would be permitted for these educational savings accounts. The income on these savings would not be taxed as earned, but the amounts used for college or post-secondary vocational training would be included in a child's income over a 10-year period beginning at age 25.

BE A GOOD CITIZEN:

People tend to litter where litter has already accumulated. Throwing trash from an automobile—be it a glass bottle, a metal container, or paper products—is like saying to someone else: throw yours, it's alright.

Litter is always ugly.

Hancock County Chamber of Commerce
Clean-Up and Beautification Committee

The other bill would establish the Congressional Science and Mathematics Education Merit Scholarship and Teaching Awards program.

The program would be administered by the National Science Foundation, and the board of education in each state would establish a commission to screen and select the students and teachers seeking to participate.

Scholarships of $5,000 would be awarded for students to attend college, and they would be required to make a commitment to teach math or science for at least three years after graduation.

Teachers in math and science cited for their achievement would receive awards of $5,000, if they have taught at least five years, or $10,000 if they have taught 10 years or more.

With mathematics and science becoming increasingly more important in today's technological world, it is urgent that we encourage students and teachers to achieve competence in these areas.

The bill we are sponsoring seeks to establish a national program to encourage each state to enhance their educational opportunities in math and science, and particularly to ensure that competent teachers in these critical areas are available in the future.

Mississippians have always taken great pride in their local schools, and as your United States Senator I have always been cognizant of this desire and recognition for good education in our state.

It has been my goal in Congress to support sound federal assistance programs that would supplement our state and local education efforts, and provide better opportunities for our young people to enhance the quality of their lives.

CONSUMER REPORT

Attorney General Bill Allain reports the recovery of $43,100.22 in improper overcharges to three state agencies by several manufacturers of corrugated containers.

Over $42,000 had been charged Mississippi Industries for the Blind and the remainder was refunded the Highway Department and Department of Public Welfare.

This refund was the result of the Attorney General's Office joining in multi-district antitrust litigation with several other states against manufacturers of corrugated containers which charged collusive price fixing on cardboard boxes sold by them.

The defendant companies agreed to a settlement which resulted in the return of these overcharges.

"I am pleased with this recovery of the people's money—this is the sort of thing that causes our taxes to increase without increasing services to the people and must not be tolerated," Allain said.

Coast Crime Commission objects to liberal handgun legislation

The Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Recent news articles indicate our House of Representatives has approved a bill authorizing "any citizen of Mississippi" to carry a handgun, and to be holstered, anywhere in the state.

Your Mississippi Coast Crime Commission, and all responsible law enforcement officers, very strongly object to this legislation.

While the intent may be to increase personal protection for individuals, we believe it will have the opposite effect. If the bill is passed, we can expect a dramatic increase in the number of deaths and wounding of innocent people, both intentionally and accidentally.

Citizens of good character, with sufficient justification, may now secure a permit from the sheriff, or the Director of Public Safety for Mississippi, and be authorized to carry a holstered weapon.

We believe no further legislation is this situation is necessary, and most strongly urge its defeat.

Legal secretaries pick Ilyne Stewart president

Consumer protection and legal malpractice were subjects of seminars held in conjunction with the fall board meeting of the Mississippi Association of Legal Secretaries hosted by Jackson LSA.

Presenting the seminars were Attorney Carmen Castillo of the Consumer Protection Division of the State Attorney General's Office and Richard Edmundson, a Jackson attorney.

Sixty-eight persons were registered for this meeting held at the Coliseum Ramada Inn.

At the Sunday business session, plans were presented to Sue Allmon of Hattiesburg LSA, and Gini Myers, Harrison-Hancock LSA, in recognition of their recent certification as Professional Legal Secretary (PLS).

Ilyne Stewart, Harrison-Hancock LSA, was elected to serve as MALS president for 1983-84.

She will be installed at the annual convention to be hosted by her chapter on May 20-22.

Temporary county RV park possible for world's fair

By BREARD SNEELINGS
Recreational vehicles along Hancock County beachfront property for the 1984 New Orleans World's Fair?

It's a possibility. Fred Small, a Waveland RV owner, representing himself, told the Waveland Board of Aldermen Wednesday night that several RV groups are looking at Hancock County as a possible parking site for their 40-foot trailers during next year's world's fair.

"The area of beachfront from the Paddlewheel Restaurant in Lakeshore to the end of the road at Bayou Cadet is an ideal area for temporary RV parking," Small told the aldermen.

Small said he had already talked to the landowners in that area and met with no objection to RVs parking from the road to 60 feet back inland along South Beach Boulevard.

Small went before the aldermen to discuss the problems of sewerage and water hookups for the RVs, if a group did manage to secure permission to park in that area for the world's fair.

Waveland Mayor John Longo, head of the board, told Small that water hookup would be no problem, but hooking up to the Waveland sewerage system might be a problem.

"The simplest way would be to run a pipeline from our sewerage system," said Longo, "but the city might not be interested, not only because the area in question is outside the city limits, but also because the RVs would only be there temporarily."

Small brought out that the Bayou Cadet area is unacceptable for septic tanks, but that holding tanks were a possibility, if they met county regulations.

Longo told Small that one RV group had already applied for a permit to park in the northern part of the county, but had been turned down because of sewerage problems. Longo said he couldn't remember the name of the RV group, or exactly where they had applied to.

Small said there was potential for turning the area from the Paddlewheel to Bayou Cadet into a permanent RV parking development after the fair, if there were water and sewerage hookups.

"These vehicles are over 31 feet long and can't be serviced by the RV parks in the county, because they're too large," said Small.

Small also brought out that there was a possibility Amtrak would run through the county for the fair, and he was planning to talk to NASA to see if a shuttlebus could be borrowed to bus the RV owners from the possible RV beachfront site to transportation terminals going to New Orleans.

In other business, Hancock County Prosecutor John Genin informed the aldermen of the current committee being formed to look into the possibility of a bond issue for building a new, or enlarging the old, county jail.

Genin said the committee will consist of two members named by the Waveland Board of Aldermen and the Bay St. Louis City Council, plus 10 members named by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors.

The board named Bob Hubbard, alderman from Ward 2, and Waveland Chief of Police Donald Dorn to the committee.

He added, however, that small business may also apply for Economic Injury Disaster Loans (EIDL) to permit a business to meet its financial obligations that the business could have met had the disaster not occurred.

"EIDLs are made to small businesses which have suffered substantial economic injury as a direct result of the disaster, whether or not the business has suffered any physical damage," Sanders explained.

An EIDL may be made up to $500,000 with the deadline on such loan applications extended to Nov. 16.

A basic ability to repay the loan is required, Sanders said.

"If an individual or business, based upon its own resources or cash flow, has the financial ability to fund the amount of the uninsured loss from non-government sources, that individual or business is deemed to have credit available elsewhere, with this determination made by SBA," Sanders continued.

"This determination will have nothing to do with eligibility, but will determine loan rates," he added.

Interest rates on home and personal property loans with credit available elsewhere will be eleven and five-eighths percent, and with credit not available elsewhere, five and seven-eighths percent.

Business disaster loans with credit available elsewhere will bear an 11 percent rate, and with credit not available elsewhere or economic injury loans, 8 percent.

Terms of the loans are up to 30 years based on ability to repay.

For businesses with credit available elsewhere, the maximum term is three years.

Limitations include no funding for damage to secondary homes; no funding for damage to personal pleasure boats, planes, recreational vehicles, antiques, or collections; and no funding for upgrading real estate or personal property.

Limited funding will be available for landscaping and family swimming pools, the SBA reported.

Sanders said applicants who have SBA loans that require them to maintain flood insurance are not eligible for loans if they have not maintained the insurance.

Others already named to the committee include Bay St. Louis City Clerk Ed die Favre, Bay St. Louis Police Chief Douglas Williams, District Attorney Albert Necaise and Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

Also, alderman Louis Smolensky from Ward 3 was named to the Governor's Clean-up, Paint-up Program.

Alderman Barbara Rappold from Ward 1 noted the Waveland Library dedication would be March 6, from 3-5 p.m., with a special ribbon cutting ceremony.

In other business, Waveland Assistant Fire Chief Gerald Price was on hand as the board voted to accept a bid of $12,915 from Turan-Lane Chevrolet for a quick response emergency vehicle, or in other words, a pick-up truck with a small pump, water and equipment, which could be used as a back-up fire truck by the city.

Small plane crashes Saturday on Chandeleur

By ELLIS CUEVAS
A light plane crashed on Chandeleur Island around 2:30 p.m. Saturday according to Bay St. Louis resident Gerald (Jerry) Scadifi.

Scadifi said, "Ray Ascosta and I were flying about 500 feet above the island when we observed the plane crash and flip over in shallow water. I called the U.S. Coast Guard." "The plane looked like a single engine model from the air and it like there had been eight passengers who had gotten out of the plane with no ap-

A Picayune man died in a head-on automobile collision Thursday that left another man in critical condition.

Timothy Gwynne, 23, was killed when his car collided with a vehicle driven by Hersh Pullens, 19, also of Picayune, according to a spokesman for the Mississippi Highway Patrol.

Telegraph oyster reef is reopened

Certain portions of Telegraph and Pass Marianne dredging reef were reopened to oystering Saturday.

The Bureau of Marine Resources received a recommendation to reopen the reef Friday from the Mississippi Department of Health, based on the approved water quality in and around the reef areas which make the oysters once again suitable for harvest.

The reef will remain open until further notice.

For specific information on other oystering areas, contact the enforcement division at Pass Christian Harbor at 452-7221.

achievements and were later successful in various white collar civilian professions.

"But there was no recorded history of this when I was growing up. According to my history books there were no blacks that had contributed anything except in sports, the arts, and in very limited fields of research. But we suspected that we had been major contributors," Gregory stated.

He cited black units fought valiantly in many other wars including Spanish American, Indian and Korean wars.

Gregory urged blacks to aggressively pursue occupational goals and stated, "Effort must exceed opportunity for change to take place."

"You've got to decide what you want. Nobody is going to discover you. It's up to you to find out what you need, and then go after it," he said.

"College degrees are important, but having a degree won't get you ahead if you've got a poor attitude or have other conflicting things on your mind," the astronaut cited.

He also urged blacks to self-educate at night-time by reading, reasoning and writing rather than settling for being entertained by television and radio.

"If we spent the same amount of time at night reading and reasoning and writing and counting, our cognitive skills would be as great as our motor skills," Gregory stated.

Somebody once said that Agatha Christie "bumped off more people than Al Capone." What that person was referring to, of course, were the victims in her 65 best-selling crime novels.

She ranked first among women mystery writers in a poll of her peers and was dubbed the "Queen of Crime," although she preferred "Duchess of Death." Probably unknown to a great many Christie fans is that the author had a warm sentimental streak in her writing, which is reflected in some 150 short stories about young men and women in love.

That relatively little-known side of her talents is revealed in "The Agatha Christie Stories," four individual tales of romance and adventure to be presented on "Mystery" at 9 p.m., Tuesdays, beginning Feb. 22, on the Mississippi ETV Network.

In the opener of the miniseries, "The Manhood of Edward Robinson," a timid young man acts out his daydreams by leaving for a night's madcap romp with a beautiful socialite who he suspects is a cat burglar. Starring are Nicholas Farrell ("Chariots of Fire"), Ann Thornton and Cherie Lungal ("Kean") and "Oliver Twist".

St. Monica's Silver Tea to honor late Mrs. Morse

By JOE PILET
Publicist,
St. Monica Guild.

Traffic moves slowly along East Scenic Drive in Pass Christian these days. The estate of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edgar Monroe is pointed out. This is where the St. Monica Guild sponsored Silver Tea will be held on Friday, Feb. 25.

Some cars stop and the occupants comment on the beauty of the red brick Georgian style mansion enhanced by an eight acre expanse of lawn and landscaping properly framed with a tall black iron fence.

The tea, ever a major social event, is now a legend! It originated in the mid-1930's when the late Mrs. H. R. Kilpatrick of The Pink Cottage gave a tea honoring the memory of her mother, Mrs. Lella Abby French of Natchez and Pass Christian.

Proceeds from the tea were channeled through St. Monica Guild for church and community related projects. Each succeeding year the tea has been given, always in February and frequently the date fell on or near Valentine's Day.

At the Pink Cottage choir groups from the various Negro churches gathered beneath magnolia trees on the grounds and sang spirituals and familiar Stephen Foster selections. A small "pump organ" in the parlor afforded additional entertainment.

When the Pink Cottage could no longer accommodate the ever-growing number of guests, several beautiful old Southern mansions were opened for the affair.

Some of the homes were those of the late Mrs. Stanford Morse Sr., Trinity Episcopal Rectory with the late Mrs. Durrie Hardin as hostess; Villa Karma with Mrs. John Frith as hostess; the Guy C. Billups Jr. home at 625 East Scenic Drive; "Little Ocean Hall," home of the late R. C. Hammets, as well as the Robert Ewing Brown home.

This year's tea is dedicated to the memory of Mrs. Morse who came to the Gulf Coast in 1948, joined St. Monica Guild that year and each year served on the Advisory Committee in planning the teas. She was a friend and neighbor of Mrs. Monroe.

"Invitations will be mailed to a limited list," Mrs. Frith, who serves as over-all chairman, explained.

"However all ladies of the Gulf Coast Community with their guests and winter visitors are cordially invited," she added.

The Monroe home is tastefully appointed with priceless antique furniture, paintings and objects of art, a fine porcelain collection, silver sconces, and an exceptionally interesting cathedral type chandelier which serves as a focal point of interest beneath the gracefully curving staircase.

The tea will begin at 3 p.m.

The receiving line, in addition to Mrs. Monroe will include Mrs. J. Randolph Buck, president of St. Monica Guild and Women of Trinity, and Mrs. H. MacDonald Morse Jr., wife of Trinity's rector.

Pourers include several former presidents of the guild. Other members will serve as room hostesses in all rooms opened to tea guests.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY—Mr. and Mrs. Horatio Farve of Bay St. Louis celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary recently with a reception at Trapani's Knock Knock Club. Hosting the event were their daughter, son-in-law and grandson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fayard Sr. and Robert Jr. Monsignor Gregory Johnson, pastor of St. Michael's Catholic Church in Biloxi officiated at a renewal of vows. Also attending were Rev. Francis Farrell and Rev. Henry McInerney of Our Lady of the Gulf. Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Garland, Mrs. Grace Richardson and sons Jimmy and Billy, Mrs. Grace Sawyer and sons Tommy, David and Timothy, all of Metairie; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Richardson, Mrs. Sue Fisher and Mrs. Carol Ann Ory of Marrero, La.; Mr. and Mrs. John Richardson and sons Ron and Jared of Belle Chasse, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Mario Bammara of Carteret, N. When you choose McDonald's, you choose quality.

McDonald's® hamburgers are made with 100% pure beef...leaner than the ground beef most people buy. They're sear sizzled to lock in the juices. And we work hard to get them to you hot, fresh and tasty.

That's why at the McDonald's near you...at McDonald's everywhere...you get quality you can taste...every time.
